

Southeastern offices temporarily closed

The Southeastern Colorado Water Conservancy District (SECWCD) is monitoring public health concerns surrounding the coronavirus outbreak, known as COVID-19. While we will continue to deliver water and provide necessary services to our stakeholders, we are also watching out for the health and safety of our employees.

Beginning Thursday, March 26, 2020, all employees will be working remotely, as ordered by Governor Jared Polis. The order is in effect under April 11. Only employees with essential office duties will be onsite periodically during this time. This precaution has been put in place by SECWCD management to limit social interaction and potential spread of any illnesses.

SECWCD offices will be closed. Business and meetings will be by appointment only. Please call (719) 948-2400 for general information.
