ACTION ITEM:

POLICY 1 REDLINE – LATE ALLOCATION APPLICATIONS/PAYMENTS

Mr. Banham presented to the Board an action item recommending proposed revisions to Section 21, establishing a formal Late Application and Late Payment Policy, as approved by the Allocation and Storage Committee. (a copy was provided to the Board)

In 2025, District staff and the Board recognized the need to update Section 21 of the Project Water policies to better reflect current administrative practices related to application and payment deadlines. The existing policy, adopted in 1993, strictly prohibits consideration of any application received after the published deadline and automatically voids approved allocations if payment is not received on time. While this approach provides clarity, it does not allow flexibility for minor delays and does not provide a mechanism to address late submissions in a consistent or enforceable manner.

Under the current “hard deadline” policy, applicants who miss the deadline by a short period are automatically excluded, even when the delay is administrative in nature. As a result, otherwise eligible participants may lose access to Project Water, and staff have limited options to address late submissions without formal policy direction. In addition, the current policy does not clearly define participant responsibility once a Project Water request has been made, nor does it establish consequences for unpaid balances beyond voiding the current allocation.

To address these issues, District staff proposes revising Section 21 to establish a formal Late Application and Late Payment Policy that introduces limited flexibility while maintaining accountability and protecting District operations. As part of this revision, late application and late payment fees would be established through the Rate Sheet, where none currently exist. The proposed policy framework would be as follows:

- Applications may be submitted up to five business days after the published deadline and will be considered only upon payment of a late application fee, to be established in the Rate Sheet.
- All applications received after the published deadline will be treated as late applications, and the District will notify the applicant and provide an opportunity to submit the required late application fee.
- Failure to submit the late application fee upon notification will result in the application being deemed ineligible for review.
- Payments for Project Water may be accepted after the published deadline with an applicable late payment fee, to be established in the Rate Sheet, and Project Water will be made available once payment is received.
- Once a request for Project Water is made, participants remain financially responsible for the allocation, even if they later withdraw.
- Failure to submit payment, including any applicable late fees, will result in the participant being ineligible for all future Project Water allocations until the outstanding balance is paid in full.
- The Board retains the discretion to modify or waive the Late Application and Late Payment Policy, either at its discretion or upon receipt of a written request for consideration.

The proposed revision replaces the current absolute prohibition on late applications and payments with a structured policy framework, provides clear authority to establish late fees, and improves administrative consistency while preserving Board discretion and protecting District financial interests.

Motion carried unanimously.
